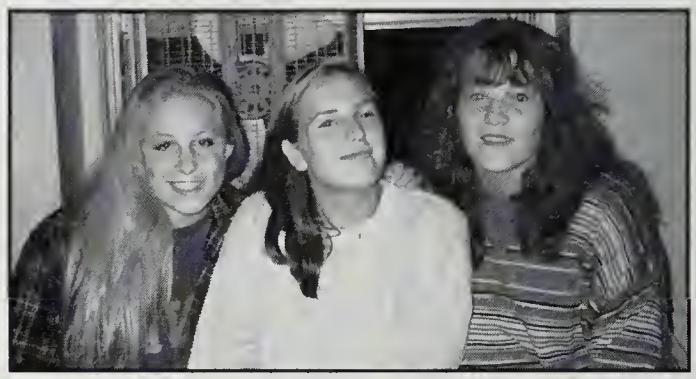
The Jungle We Call Manhattanville

Bridget, Katie and Denise prove that life in the dorms is "purr-fect"
President Berman shows his wild side with the Sankofa Dance Theatre



The Manhattanville community contains people from all different horizons. Manhattanville College brings people from different walks of life together to develop lifelong friendships. With students representing numerous countries, our community is certainly diverse. Our student body is entertained by the various activities held at Manhattanville. From the pub to the Quad, diversity is what you'll find. The wide array of majors makes any dream possible. With interesting professors, small classes and the portfolio system, students take an active role in their education. Together as a community, Manhattanville leaves our horizons endless.

Moments at Manhattanville

"Keep smiling, Keep shining . . . That's what friends are for"
"All the leaves are brown and the sky is gray! I've been for a walk . . ."

The sun peaks out over the horizon. You are just about to hit the snooze bar for ten more minutes of peace when you realize that there is just too much to do today. There is a class in ten minutes, followed by soccer practice, then off to another class. After all this there might be time to stop by the cafeteria before running off to work. Hey if you're lucky, you might even find time between work and the club meeting to write your paper. With so many things going on there is no wonder that we need time to unwind.

There are some events that nobody would want to sleep through. The Formal and Quad Jam seem to bring out the best in everyone. Even simple things like hanging out with some friends at the pub, help relieve the stress that builds up throughout the week.

Along with the stress comes a lot of fun. This fun prepares us for the next day. It is what will keep Manhattanville in our fondest memories.

Among Friends

The secret of friendship is being a good listener.

A friend is someone you can always count on to keep a promise.

Real friends are there when you need them.

Good times are even better when shared with a friend.

A true friend is someone you can trust with all your secrets.

Friends always laugh at your jokes, even when they're not funny.

Gems may be precious, but friendship is priceless.

"M - Files"

Case: 2001

The OA's proudly display their achievements on a job well done at the Orientation weekend. Their efforts to make the transition to college were greatly appreciated by the entire freshman class.

Will I be accepted? Where are my classes? What will my professors be like? These are questions that everyone faces before they start college. This past summer the Orientation Advisors worked hard on making the transition for the freshmen as smooth as possible.

Andeen Wright and Benjamin Ruwe were the Orientation Chairs and worked all summer under the supervision of Stacy Bailey. Andeen, Ben, and Stacy are the ones responsible for making the Orientation of 1997 such a great success.

The orientation was known by its theme "M Files". Phase One was on June 26th and June 27th. On these two days the students met their advisors, took their placement exams, and participated in a game show. This phase came to an end with a big water fight between the OA's, freshman, and Manhattanville staff. Even President Berman and Vice President Ward joined in on the fun.

On September 2nd and 3rd all the students returned for Phase II. The OA's planned many events for the parents and students. This phase consisted of a carnival, with games run by the OA's, a virtual reality ride, and a foam party. The OA's also pulled their talents together for a variety show and "Voices in the Dark." Orientation '97 was one with lasting memories, laughs, and friendships that will last forever.

Covered head to toe in foam and fun! The Foam party in the quad was a popular and interesting place to be on Orientation weekend.

A few students take advantage of the Transender. The virtual experience was an exciting way to start the new semester.

It looks like the Freshmen in Spellman know how to throw a party.

The 1997-1998 Resident Assistants pose for their annual picture. By the look on their faces they have no idea what they're in store for this year.

Home Away From Home

Chris cuddles with Pooh after a long day of class. Can anyone say "awww . . ."?

Seventeen individuals chose to live together in a dorm and have their lives changed through the 1997-1998 school year. These are the Resident Assistants in the Real World "Manhattanville".

Although being a Resident Assistant is considered a privilege, it is a demanding job. One must always be prepared to do whatever, whenever, to help the residents.

During a two week training in August the Resident Assistants were trained to handle almost any situation. Discussions about alcohol, drugs, rape, abuse and suicide were intense and educational. However, training went beyond that. The Resident Assistants prepared the dorms with different themes and did their famous RCR's (Room Condition Reports).

Thanks to the Resident Directors, Stephen Giordano, Lori Martin Lee, Michele Tyrrell and the Associate Dean of Student Affairs/Director of Residence Life, Claude Steele, the Resident Assistants were able to form a bond during the August training. Whether it was camping, white water rafting or on the roller coasters in Great Adventure, the Resident Assistants always knew they had each others' hands to hold. The Resident Assistants are not only friends, they are a family to each other and the Manhattanville Community.

First Annual Fall Jam

On the quad, Jen Barron helps out some of the younger students at Manhattanville. Are these Freshmen getting younger and younger every year or is it just me?

"Fall Jam Livens up The Weekend at M'ville"

On October fourth, the Manhattanville Quad Jam Committee sponsored "Fall Jam" which was held on the Quad. It was followed by the annual "Bonfire" held behind Tenney Hall. The unusually good weather and live music brightened up the atmosphere for the 500 people who attended the event throughout the day. The show offered students a warm afternoon and evening of good music, and then the bonfire kept us warm at night.

The festivities began unofficially at 1:30 with All Star Jams, followed by Guy Smiley, ELP, Kaotic Disciples of tha' Poet, Sun Dog, IZZ, HPC, Big Vic Productions, and Next Level. The music varied from classic rock to reggae and rap. A psychic read taro cards, vendors sold tee shirts, candy apples, cookies, brownies and raffle tickets.

All Star Jams opened the day with a five song set, containing several covers by Smashing Pumpkins, Bush and a couple of original songs. With John Digilio on bass, Colin Scott on vocals and rhythm guitar, Nick Perino on lead guitar, and Marlin Byrne on drums, they were good for not practicing. Guy Smiley played their hard core originals with Liam Mckeirnan on drums and lead vocals, Andreas Burgos on rhythm guitar and backing vocals, and Jason Fraina on bass. ELP was spinning records, and sampling beats and sounds in his unique sound and style. Kaotic Disciples of tha' Poet, lead by M'ville's own Rob Hill came up with some interesting rhymes and syncopations. Closing the day, Sundog played a set of Pink Floyd, Led Zeppelin, and Jimi Hendrix with Josh Ansel on Sax, Nicks Downes on drums, Ben Ruwe on guitar and vocals, and John Galgano on bass and vocals.

Bringing in the evening, IZZ played the keyboard rock set with their originals mixed with covers from Emerson Lake and Palmer to King Crimson, with Sundog's John Galgano on guitar and backing vocals. HPC (formerly Harold and the Purple Crayon) played all originals in their progressive funky style. Big Vic Productions rapped the night away with two special guests, Jay and Babs. And closing the evening was Next Level, a Caribbean reggae band.

Manhattanville President Richard Berman was enthusiastic, and dibbed the night "spectacular."

One of Manhattanville's favorite bands IZZ, entertains a mellow crowd at Fall Jam. The first annual event was unquestionably successful.

A few friends sit back and listen to the sounds of the many performers at Fall Jam. The day was enjoyable for all.

A hungry M'ville student shows a familiar face in the Flik family, just how to make the perfect burger.

A few students discuss the Flik menu of the day. "Is anyone else sick of runny pasta sauce?"

Flik Food: "Anyone got the munchies?"

The Benzinger Cafeteria, where dreams are made. Well, at least dinner!

A big part of the day for the typical Manhattanville College student revolves around Benzinger Building, home to the post office, bookstore, cafeteria and al-la-carte pub. We all meet our friends for meals, using them as a time to relax and be sociable. As soon as you walk into the cafeteria, the Flik employees are anxiously awaiting to swipe your ID, pulling off yet another meal from your plan. We are met by smiling and sometimes confused faces as we search every pocket, bag and crevice for those pesky and constantly disappearing ID's. A weekly ritual is to read the comment board to see what is new with the ever dramatic life of the picky Manhattanville student. Who wants more peach yogurt? Whose cheeseburger wasn't good? Who would like to see Froot Loops every morning for breakfast? And, as it sometimes happens, George not only helps us out with our food requests, but also with those troubling love problems. Not only does George do an excellent job, but he always wears those cute matching suspenders. Yet another great service of the Flik operated cafeteria are the Midnight Brunches offered during finals week. Although unsure of when the tradition was started, each and every Manhattanville student warmly welcomes the midnight meal as they stay up all night cramming for their final exam the next morning.

Another part of life at Manhattanville includes the Pub, located underneath the cafeteria. Found here are many delicious goodies, ranging from strawberry rhubarb pie to bacon cheeseburgers. Yes, the Pub even has the best selection of candy around. How many times has the Pub satisfied a craving for gummy worms? Plenty. The staff is always happy to serve you as well. Full satisfaction is their goal.

M'VILLE ON THE JOB

The hard workers of the bookstore. Who else could put up with the complaints of a thousand students requesting personal attention??

Money for books, food and those expensive malls nearby! What's a poor college student to do? There are, of course, many options with limited solutions. First, asking your parents to send you money may show that you still need them. Second, money can easily be obtained by "borrowing" from your friends, but ask yourself this — Is a few dollars worth the pain of annoying your friends? There seems to be only one obvious answer to this age-old question — GET A JOB! Once you have established that you are ready for a job, the next question to ask yourself is: Where can I find one? There are plenty of businesses nearby that would probably be very willing to hire some desperate-for-cash students, but why would you bother leaving campus. There are plenty of jobs available to us right here. Manhattanville offers many different job opportunities to its students, all geared towards different types of professions. Students work as secretaries, bookkeepers, assistants, and laborers in nearly every department. Most students choose their jobs based on their strongest interests. A student interested in art may receive the opportunity to work under Professor Randy Williams in the Art Department. Another student, who may be interested in the field of medicine, can work in the Health Center and learn by hands-on experience. And the importance of Theater in the lives of the students is shown through the increased number of students, ranging from freshman to senior, who work under Joe Forehand in the Dance and Theater Department. Of course, many of these jobs would probably not be filled if not for two very important days that come twice a month. To some, it has become an unofficial holiday. PAYDAY! All our hours of hard, dedicated labor have finally been paid off, not only by the checks we hold tight in our hands, but also in our own personal satisfaction that we did our jobs well.

Talented Mario paints sets for the theater department. All art students do best with their eyes closed.

Another art student ponders the importance of the coloring of this particular horse. "Would purple polka-dots be appropriate?"

LIFE ON THE QUAD

Students flip over the fun times on the Quad

Ask any Manhattanville student where their favorite place to hang out is. I'm willing to bet that nearly all will say "The Quad." Set in the very heart of the campus, the Quad is home to many exciting activities during the year. Besides the usual frisbee tosses and football games, the Quad provides a place for the community to unite at Fall Jam and Quad Jam. The Quad has also been used recently to display artistic masterpieces. I don't think anyone can forget the mock dead body, or the plastic underwear. Quite simply, the quad is used mainly as a place to relax and hang out with friends. On warm days, it is unlikely that you can walk through the grassy field without viewing some friends talking together, or playing together. An outsider may ask, "What makes this simple field so appealing?" The answer is universal, "Because it's home."

It was a night of "Moonlight and Magic." The fall formal, held on December 5, 1997, surely lived up to its name. The formal is a night in which everyone is magically transformed into stunning men and women. The entire Manhattanville Community takes part in this event, preparing themselves long before the clock strikes ten. Despite the cold and rainy weather, everyone came dressed in their best and danced the night away. All of the formals are unforgettable nights for the entire student body. Not only do the students enjoy this wonderful evening, but the faculty as well. President Berman and the First Lady were mixing up on the dances and of course Uriel Reid was there with his trusty camera. The formal is a way for students and faculty to mix and mingle, but best of all a great way to celebrate the end of a semester. This extraordinary evening was due to the effort of S.P.B. (Student Programming Board), which did a tremendous job making our night magical.

The stars are shining bright on these lucky ladies tonight

President Berman celebrates the night in style with the First Lady and Jessica Vargas

A NIGHTMARE ON PUCHASE STREET

Back from the 50s, these Pink Ladies still know how to party

There were no ghosts or goblins at this Halloween party. We had Disney Princesses, Toga boys, and Punk Rockers. Is this another Pub Party? Nope! It's the annual Manhattanville Halloween Party! Before the festivities got started, students enjoyed various treats in the creatively decorated cafeteria. Kudos to the cafeteria staff on a job well-done. Tricks must always accompany treats — so off to the party we go. I witnessed many stunning transformations that night. I saw everyone from Xena to a homeless bum; several black cats, the Phantom of the Opera, and President Berman (modeled by Jen Barron). Prizes went to the best costumes (sexiest, best group, etc.). A great time was had by all thanks to everyone involved.

. . . Fairy Tales really can come true

Sarah, Joe, Erin, and Renee enjoy the "relaxing" atmosphere of the annual Entente

A NIGHT WITH THE FACULTY

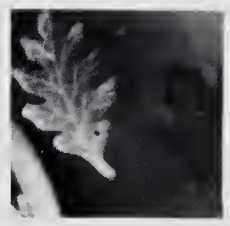
President Berman warmly congratulates the scholarship winners

The Entente is a semi-annual tradition here at Manhattanville. It is a celebration of knowledge and achievement. Gathering in the West Room of the Castle, the Manhattanville Community enjoys an evening of exchange between students and faculty, as well as honoring students for outstanding performance. This Fall Entente certainly followed suite. Joseph Vece coordinated and hosted the evening, which was highlighted by student musical performances by John Galgano and Joshua "Ace" Ansel. Many tables engaged in heated discussion, such as that of Professor John Murray of the Sociology department.



Throughout the room, professors and students mingled and conversed in the spirit of knowledge. This atmosphere, paired with the occasional high-five from President Berman, who was in attendance, of course, continued the tradition and spirit of excellence always present at the Fall Entente.

AND THE WINNERS ARE...

Steve Giordano, Claude Steel and George "Flikman" prepare to make a tough decision

Cheerleading, dancing, singing — this sounds like a contest. It is! It's the Mr. and Ms. Manhattanville Pageant! Sponsored by The Players Guild, the pageant had it all -- a panel of responsible judges, an enthusiastic audience, and hilarious hosts -- Lib McCaffery and Joe Vece. Contestants strutted their stuff across the floor dressed first in casual wear, and then in their pajamas. There was a School Spirit portion, an interview portion with some thought provoking questions (If you could be any Flik entree, what would you be?), and an unforgettable talent portion. Christine Savino showed off her dancing skills, while "Johnny D" amazed us with his ability to touch his tongue to his nose. I think everyone will agree that the most amusing talent belonged to Charlie Williams — or I should say "So-fo." The judges sure had a tough decision ahead of them, but they somehow managed to pick the winners. Congratulations to Tina Marie Manus and Jean-Marc Berne!

HAIL TO THE CHIEF...

PRESIDENT RICHARD A. BERMAN

"And, in conclusion, the four core values of Manhattanville are . . . "

Commencement evokes so many emotions within a college community. While we celebrate all that you have accomplished in your years of study at Manhattanville, we will also miss your daily presence on campus . . . As each of you enters a new phase of life, we hope you will recognize that your Manhattanville education has given you the academic and social preparedness to achieve greatness in your professional and personal life. I encourage you to use what you have learned here and let your imagination soar in the direction of fulfilling your dreams.

We have been fortunate to witness how dreams, visions and goals can guide the human spirit toward making a difference. In the last year the global community has been keenly aware of the extraordinary accomplishments of two women who dared to make their dreams realities. Mother Teresa and Princess Diana, two women as different as night and day in some ways and as similar as any could be in others, exemplified everything we at Manhattanville cherish. They used their influence to accomplish what we aspire to: building a caring, compassionate, nurturing [world] community, founded on mutual respect and accountability for individual actions.

Theirs was a special commitment to social awareness that led to social action. They gave us a model for making what we do every day not just a job, but life's work. They showed us that when work is consistent with our values and is directed toward service, it can have maximum impact and help change the conditions in which we live. They also showed us that the measure of a life is not necessarily how long it is, but what you do with what you have been given. Certainly both Mother Teresa and Princess Diana could have used their calling for other purposes, but both chose to use their influence for the betterment of humankind.

As each of you reaches out to take your diploma, seize the moment to commit to merging your values, your dreams and your work. Continue what many of you have already begun: to make the world a better place by serving others. As you take your place in the world as, among others, business leaders, artists, economists, dancers, chemists and mathematicians, remember the important work you began in Manhattanville run programs such as the Midnight Run, Everybody Wins, Music Outreach Program and Pennies for the Poor. Continue contributing your time to advance social causes. Give food during Thanksgiving and clothing and toys during the December holidays. But also remember that all the days of your life can be dedicated to improving the conditions in your community.

May the days and years to come bring you close to your dreams. Think of Manhattanville as your home away from home and visit whenever you can. With an open heart, I wish you well and hope your dreams guide your life.

Even our busy President takes time out to enjoy Flik

President Berman stands supreme over all aspects of M'ville

Golden HORIZONS

He should have gotten those brakes checked

EXPANDING OUR HORIZONS

How does one expand their horizons? By doing their work on time and hoping for the best grades. Nope — by getting involved. Manhattanville has so many activities to get involved in that it's impossible to keep track of them all. We've got the Formals, Quad Jam, tons of Pub parties, and of course, all the clubs. How can such a small school possibly do so much? It's not the size of the school, rather it's the enthusiasm of the people in it. Team coaches that keep our athletes fit; club presidents who organize their clubs' events; and publication editors who make sure everything gets out to the publisher on time. Expanding your horizons, and your way of life, is easy at Manhattanville.

OUR GOLDEN FACES

There is only one way for Manhattanville activities to succeed — by the people in it. Even though we don't have a large community population here, the students we do have are always wiling to lend a hand to a fellow student. Though most of us don't appreciate the highly uneven male:female ratio, we survive by being with our friends. The best friends you will ever make will be at college, so act wisely. Manhattanville has many opportunities for ethnic groups to gather together and celebrate their heritage, such as BSU and LASO. Working with such a wide variety of people provides us with useful knowledge about other cultures and also gives us real experience for the real world.

Dear Seniors,

Though our educational journey may be ending our life's journey is just beginning, and we can enjoy a reflective moment on the diverse experiences we have had during our time at Manhattanville. The friendships we have forged and the guidance we have received has helped us develop into the graduates we are today and the individuals, which will embrace tomorrow.

So let us thank Manhattanville and its community and let us not forget each other, the Class of '98.

Just 100 more nights to party together

What a great year this is going to be! It is hard to believe that we are finally upperclassmen living in Founders and Dammann. We find ourselves assuming the roles of leaders and peers on campus and all of the responsibilities that go hand and hand with this. We become more involved as the semester progresses and find that our lives begin to take shape as new goals and achievements are realized. No one can tell exactly what we should expect, but with hard work and dedication greatness can not be far from any one of us. Enjoy your year as the Junior Class and remember the bonds that we share. We are the new Manhattanville. The school's success depends upon our success, so get out there and get busy! Good luck gang!

Sincerely,

Another great year has come to an end! It was only last year in which we entered the whole new world of college, scary isn't it! We have met so many different and interesting people. Manhattanville's community has taken us under its wings and guided us through the many challenges that we have been faced with. Now that we are a part of this community it is our responsibility to help guide and welcome the new members with enthusiasm and the Manhattanville spirit. Thanks for a wonderful year and I look forward to another fun filled year here at Manhattanville!

As we entered into the Manhattanville community this past fall, we were faced with a new way of life. We were faced with the responsibility of establishing ourselves as individuals and as a united class. Whether through a strong academic agenda, participation in athletic teams or Student Government, we all found our niche and began to contribute to our new community.

Today, we are active participants in Manhattanville life. We have gotten to know one another, learned to live with one another and have been introduced to an entirely new way of hinking and analyzing what we see in our textbooks and what ve encounter in real life.

The Class of 2001 is the largest class in recent Manhat-anville history, and it showed! Freshmen were everywhere this ear. We managed to incorporate our talents, hobbies, and nowledge into every aspect of our campus.

I am proud to have had the opportunity to serve you as 'resident. I have had the pleasure of working with a fantastic abinet and thank everyone who helped us grow, as a class, nto what we are today. Always rememeber your freshman year — it was a very exciting one for us all.

Good luck to all in the upcoming year as sophomores! I am always here for you!

When someone says the word "inspiration", what do you usually think of? Some people might answer "Mother Theresa" or "Princess Diana." Others may reply on a more personal level — "my mother" or "my favorite teacher." There is no clear response to this question. But, to an unquestionable number of Manhattanville students, the answer lies in every playbill, on every theater poster, and in their hearts — Joe Forehand.

A former student himself, Joe graduated with the class of 1984. He returned to his alma mater a few years later as the Technical Director in the Department of Dance and Theater. He is the man behind the sets (most of which he built). Joe designs the lighting for all shows in the Little Theater, as well as sound. It's rare that one can walk by his office without seeing a cluster of students just hanging out with him. So, what makes this man such an inspiration? Simply the fact that many students look up to him — mainly his large staff of crew workers. He has taught us everything we will ever need to know about the world of theater — from lighting design to stage-managing to sweeping the stage. More importantly, Joe always gives his workers the self-confidence to make their own decisions and take initiative on their jobs.

This semester will be Joe's last here at M'ville. As he moves on to California, he leaves behind a legacy of many hard-working years. We would like to wish Joe luck in all his future endeavors. Joe, you will be greatly missed.

In memory of our beloved valiant, Carole Sherling. Manhattanville's Community will always remember you.

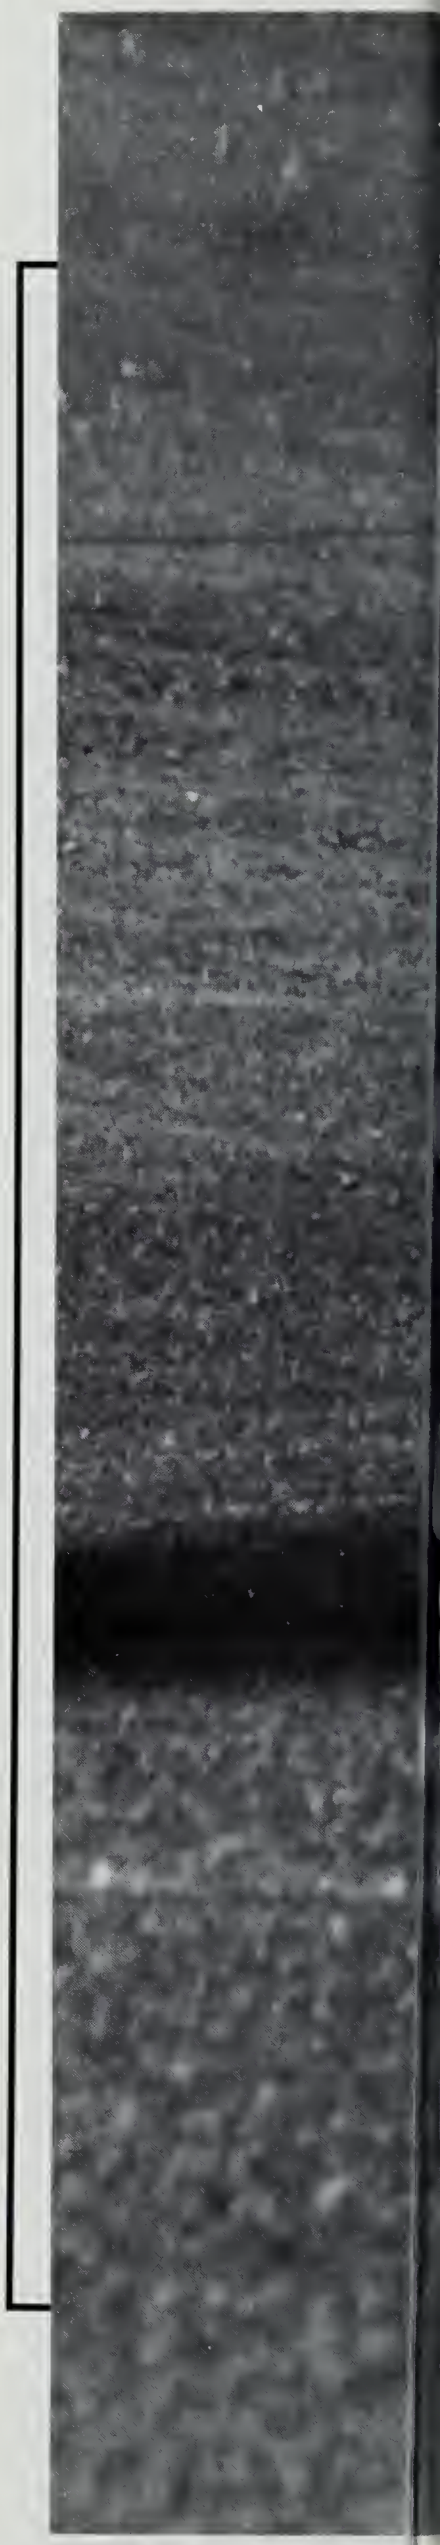
Golden HORIZONS

Dan and Mark: "Don't get mad get even!"

Reaching For Our Golden Win

We raise our hands in triumph and shout with happiness and zeal. As we reach the goal we strived and worked for, Manhattanville watched proudly. With sweat glistening on our foreheads, we train intensely to reign supreme. We are using our talents for a worthy cause. As we train, we learn and excel through hard work. We become friends by joining together for one cause. Much frustration goes into being triumphant, and we have felt the fury when we have not been able to dominate the other team. We must win. With the Valiants, losing is not an option.

Manhattanville athletics allows beginner athletes to realize dreams of teamwork and sportsmanship, experienced athletes to build upon as well as expand their athletic talents . . . and what talent we possess! On the field, on the court, or in the pool . . . the Manhattanville Valiants go the distance to give their all to their sport. And win or lose, our athletes know it was all worth it just to hear the roar of the crowd and to know that they are one of the proud — one of the Valance!



The M'Ville Volleyball team raises the roof!

Amy Dolan . . . even dances on the field!

Women's Soccer

"There's A New 'Accent' On The Field"

Coming off their best season in eleven years (9-6-2) the Manhattanville women's soccer team was looking to maintain their record. Despite the loss of three seniors and their coach of four years, the Lady Valiants appeared to have a few obstacles before them. However, Stewart Hemsley, took over the position as head coach and carried the team to another winning season (9-7-2). 1997 was also the first time that the women took first place in their own Valiant Cup Tournament. The team also defeated opponents seven out of nine attempts on their own field behind the play of lone senior, Lib McCaffrey. McCaffrey, a four year starter, led the team, not only with her athletic ability, but with a great sense of humor and strong dedication. Lib was not alone in her commitment with the likes of sophomores, Beth Clingan, Sarah Matzcak, Danielle Ruggiero, and Erin Mackay, as well as the many new faces of the freshmen, like Lyndsey Lee (Valiant Cup All-Tournament Team) that will help this young squad to many more great seasons.

Men's Soccer

"Young players hope to bring a winning season"

The Manhattanville Men's Soccer team, under coaches Peter Schacter and Johnny O'Sullivan, had a very tough year with a record of 5-13. However, six of the teams losses were decided by only one goal. The team was hit with a streak of bad luck early as co-captain, John-Marc Berne, was sidelined for the season with a separated shoulder. The season did have its high points, though, as freshman Marc Kopenstanskji was named Skyline Player of the Week, and the team set a school record by scoring 14 goals in one game. The team brought in some new talent this year and was led in scoring by Vinny Medelana. Although senior and captain Greg Casey along with senior, Ebrima Gaye will be greatly missed, Medelana and other experienced players will return to the squad next year. Jay Bailey, Peter Rotolo, Danny Buonomo and many other players hope to use their experience to bring a winning season back to Manhattanville.

— Peter Rotolo '00

Field Hockey

"Field Hockey Continues To Improve"

Manhattanville field hockey was on the rise this year with a 7-9 record. The lone senior leading the Lady Valiants this year was captain Melissa Putnam, who was assisted by junior co-captain, Heather Miller. Not only was Putnam the leading scorer of the 1997 squad, she was also recognized as the #2 all-time scorer in Manhattanville history. The Valiants gained six new players this year in freshmen, Debbie Little, Becca Williams, Stacey Dalo, and Joyce Chan. The team also acquired transfer sophomores, Shannon McKinnley and Dulce Riccordelli. To help the Valiants out in the net was Rene Gillette in goal, and power stoppers like Kristin Cuchinell, Ann Spataro, Sara Smith, and Bridget Hughes. Returning this year for the Valiants front line were, Melissa Putnam, Heather Miller, Christina Kinneally, and Amy Dolan.

This year's team began the season by winning their own Valiant Classic tournament and helped to start building the united foundation that would get the team in mid-season. The 1997 squad will deeply miss the leadership of senior Putnam but hope to use their mixture of youth and experience to have a winning season next year.

— Amy Dolan '99

It just goes to show that teamwork always works. "I love you, Man!!"

Women's Tennis

"Well, Courtney, that's the part you hit the ball with."

"Women's Tennis Takes 1st Place in Hudson Valley"

It was another year for the Manhattanville women's tennis team to come in first place in the Hudson Valley Tournament. Coach, Elyse Hintzen, guided the team to another winning season of 9 wins and 6 losses. In the HVWAC the team achieved a record of 7-1. Manhattanville's six, brand new, Har-Tru tennis courts seemed to start the team off on the right foot.

The team consisted of seven players, including four returning players from last year, each adding dedication and talent to the team. Senior, Jessica Swank, held a record of 7-5 in her position as first singles. At second singles, Junior, Melissa Brinely held a record of 9-3. Junior, Courtney Degen played at third singles with a record of 9-4. Sophomore, Nicole Kossowsky, completed her season at fourth singles with a 6-6 record. At fifth singles, Kim Ingersol, ended her season at 7-4. Sharing the sixth singles spot were, Melissa Minoff and Yoon-jin Kim.

Each player put full dedication into their matches and everyone improved their games immensely. The team showed great spirit while cheering each other on, and having a great time on the court. The 1997 team will greatly miss the leadership of first singles player, Jessie Swank, but hope to continue this current success into the next season.

— Courtney Degen '99

"Women's Volleyball Keeps Getting Better"

The volleyball team had a considerably successful season this past fall finishing 15-16 overall. This was the teams most prosperous season in nine years. The young and well-balanced Valiant attack helped the team defeat Mt. St. Mary, Ramapo, and Bard College, all teams they lost to in the regular season.

The team may have lost their last match of the season but have much to look forward to. Leading the team was junior captain, Jaime Kriksciun who had team highs in kills per game (2.1) and blocks per game (1.0). The team went 2-2 and finished fourth at the HVWAC Volleyball Division A Tournament. They defeated Mt. St. Mary 15-5, 11-15, 13-15, 15-9, 15-6. In the consolation rounds, the Valiants beat Baruch 12-15, 16-14, 15-6, 15-8 and then lost the third-place match in a rematch with Mt. St. Mary 14-16, 8-15, 9-15. Junior, Elsie Vasquez was named to the All-Conference Team for her stellar play this year.

The volleyball team loses only one player, Irene Mota, who has played all of four years of her collegiate career and has made her senior year one of the most successful. The team is continuously improving and is looking forward to successful seasons to come.

— Jaime Kriksciun '99

Swimming

"Swim Team Rises to the Challenge"

The 1997-98 Women's Swim team began its season under a cloud of uncertainty. With only one returning member from the previous season's team, a group of novices set out to prove to themselves and to the rest of the college community that they were here to stay.

It took only a few weeks for the new team to mesh under the direction of first year head coach Heather Chandor. Many of the swimmers were not even aware of proper stroke techniques, built as weeks went by it was clearly evident that these women were growing stronger and more confident. Meets at first seemed intimidating and overwhelming, but the swimmers took this as a chance to push themselves to new levels of competition. Every meet was a chance to reach a new personal best time.

The season highlights were the King's Point Invitational where the team debuted its strong relay teams. The team took home the second place award in the Marymount College Tournament, and also in the Metropolitan Championships. This team has proved beyond a doubt that they have the heart and the competitiveness to go even further in the years to come.

— Sara Smith '99

"A team that sticks together, wins together."

"Launa Duval shows the correct stroke technique."

"Nancy and Rosamond show their love."

Women's Basketball

"Women's Basketball Takes a Year to Grow"

The 1997-98 Women's Basketball Team became part of a rebuilding year for the program. After losing three players from last years squad to graduation and learning to mesh with first year coach, Stephen Post, the team found itself a bit short on players and a bit difficult to mesh with all of the changes.

The team, despite all of the difficulties jumped out to a 5-3 start, and managed to take second place honors in both the Alumni and the Castle Classic Basketball Tournaments. Some of the season highlights were: Junior, Denise Strehle, bringing home All-Tournament team honors at both the Felician and Union College Basketball Tournaments. Kristi Beitter, also a junior, took All-Tournament honors at the Castle Classic Tournament and also was named to the ECAC Honor-Roll in December. Lib McCaffrey, the teams lone senior was named to the All-Tournament team for both the Alumni and the Castle Classic Tournaments as well as being named to the ECAC Honor-Roll in December. Coach Stephen Post and assistant coach Julie Mike are hoping to bring in some top recruits to help compliment the experience of this core group, in order to get back on the winning track.

Men's Basketball

"Men's Basketball Waves Goodbye to Seniors"

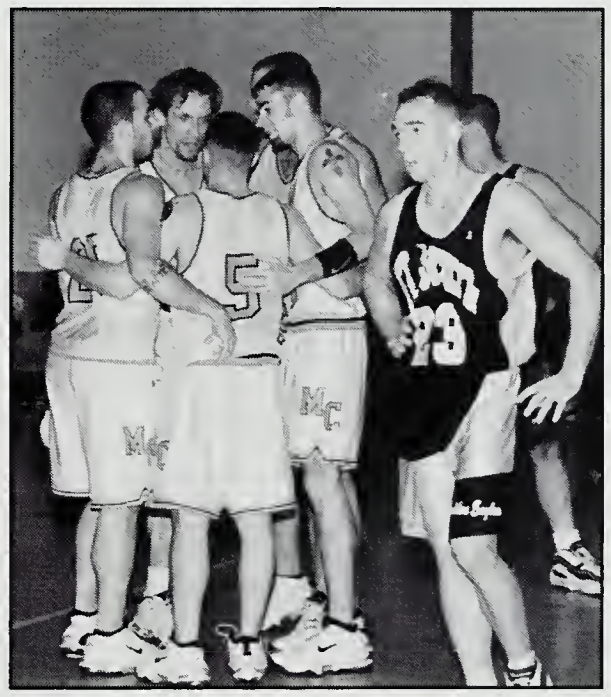
Four years ago nine Freshmen joined the Manhattanville's Men's Varsity Basketball Team. Some of them were highly recruited by former head coach Ralph Tedesco, others just joined the team along the pre-season.

Along with Rookie Head Coach Brian Curtin, they all began a journey in search of recognition: Recognition for the name Manhattanville College Athletics.

Previous seasons had been unsuccessful, although the great talent available to the team. Who's to blame for the lack of success? Nobody knows, and I think nobody really cares.

What is important to know about the men's basketball team is that they succeeded in earning the respect in the athletic community that Manhattanville deserves.

Coming from a disappointing 4-21 opening season, during which not a single team — in the Skyline conference or not — would even consider preparing against them, the new-comers stuck together in their struggle. Every opponent simply walked through the doors of Kennedy Gym expecting nothing less than trampling the Valiants over.



But things changed.

Four years later, that image is only present in the reminiscences of the players who experienced it.

The Valiants are now a respected squadron, requiring from opponents painstaking scouting and preparation before each match.

The now-Senior players — Sal Dispenza, Charles Ferreira, Malcolm Ford, Joseph Joyce, and myself — along with the late-comers Charles Slattery and 1,000+ points scored Kevin Chadderton have proven themselves Valiant knights in the army of Brian Curtin, Robert Barret and Daniel Hannon.

As the year comes to its end, possibilities of post-season play for the Valiants is very probable: The team is now a very coherent, experienced and cohesive unity.

The years spent in College are supposed to be reflected as time spent developing the individual and preparing him to contribute to his community: The Men's Basketball Team can rest confident and proud that it has reflected the understanding of such a goal on and off the court!

— Marcellus Miglioranzi '98

Women's Lacrosse

"Women's Lacrosse Looks for the 'W' "

Teamwork. Pride. Heart. These are all words that perfectly describe the Women's Lacrosse Team. In a perfect world these things would guarantee victory, but this is not always the case. This team lead by Freshman Ann Spataro's ability to find the back of the net, along with veterans, Sara Smith, Christina Keneally, and Mercedes Colon hopes to finally gain the sweet taste of victory in the seasons to come. The team has faced some tough competition together and has gained some great experience. Although this team comes up short in the win column, they continue to work hard and stick together, avoiding the temptation to give up. The team hope to use this determination, experience and youth to come up with some wins in the season's to come.

Men's Tennis

"Men's Tennis Looks to Improve"

The Men's Tennis team led by brothers Charles and Chris Slattery are steadily improving against the tough competition of the Skyline Conference. Chuck Slattery went 5-4 while playing at the 1st singles spot and went 7-5 overall. Chris Slattery went 6-5 overall while playing at the 1-6 spots. Ezra Whipple and Richard Morse plan to use their youth to help build the tennis program, and veterans John Rahal and Todd LaChance aim to improve their records so as to improve on the 4-10 overall record of the Men's Tennis Team.

Baseball

"Valiants Hope to Improve Behind Potent Offense"

The 1997 Manhattanville Valiants Baseball Team faced the fierce competition of the Skyline Conference with the heart and fighting spirit which dwells within the heart of every Valiant athlete. Rather than seeing their 5-17 season as a disappointment, the Valiants chose to ignore the record and focus on developing the new class of baseball talent for the years to come.

Softball

"Defending Their Crown"

This season the Manhattanville Softball team will be looking to defend their crown as the Hudson Valley Women's Athletic Conference Champions. After preseason training in Fort Meyers, Florida and a second place finish in the Manhattanville Fastpitch Invitational Tournament, the 1997 Valiants went undefeated in regular-season conference play and captured not only the conference title but also the conference championship from league rival Mt. St. Mary's.

This year, coaches Karen Peterson and Lori Pierro will be looking to captains Lib McCaffrey, Sara Maniscalco and Amy Dolan to lead the team to another winning season. Strong support will also be needed from the Manhattanville community as the lady Valiants take a step up to the Skyline Conference, where they will meet tougher competition in the spring of 1998.

Golden HORIZONS

"Work, work, work, who ever thought college was work?"

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

Aside from all the club meetings, parties, and various activities there is a reason we all came to college — to get an education. The education we receive at Manhattanville is probably among the best. Our professors are light-hearted and always willing to help. Small classes make it easy for us to have names, and openly express our opinions. Although most of us may not fully appreciate the education we are getting here, rest assured that someday we will all be holding positions of power. Some of us may land interesting jobs at one of the famous companies nearby, others may choose to travel overseas, and still others may become CEOs of their company someday. But remember where it all started — here at Manhattanville.

Dear Tommy,
Congratulations & Good Luck! I hope that you get everything you've always wanted! Best of luck to all of your friends and thanx for all of the fun! Hopefully it won't end after graduation!
Love always and forever,
Danielle

Dearest Dolly,

We love you.
We are proud of you.
We thank God every day for the gift of you!

May the road rise to meet you,
May the wind be always at your back,
May the sun shine warm upon your face,
May the rain fall soft upon your fields,
May God hold you in the palm of His hand.

With love and prayers,
Daddy, Mama and Danny

To our dearest son John,

Your graduation in May marks an exceptional day for us. We are very proud of you and your achievements at school attaining the Dean's List and on the tennis courts as a member of the tennis team. We wish you success in your graduate studies and future career. We will always love you, be proud of you, and support you in your future endeavors.

Your loving Dad and Mom
(Dr. Marc and Marie Rahal)

Dear Johnny,

Congratulations! You're graduating college. I'm so proud of all your accomplishments and the fact that you're always there for me and always will be. All I can say is that you're the best big brother that a girl could have.

I love you always,
Helen

ROBBY PANDE

Dear Son,

We are both thankful and proud that you have nearly finished this chapter of your education and getting ready to move forward into the next.
But remember intellectual education never stops; it is a part of life.
Acquisition of knowledge is like a dream, you realize it as you transform this knowledge.

So trusting God, prayerfully step into the future.
God who got you here, will be with you wherever you go.
You can be sure you will have something to stand on or else He will teach you how to fly.

Best wishes and all our love,
Dad and Mom

Dear Robby,

Good luck after graduation! You are so creative that you can't possibly be anything but successful.

Love from your sister,
Jennifer

Golden HORIZONS

Farewell Manhattanville

It's so nice to have friends.

Bridget and Jess look like they are pretty comfortable.

At this time we all have different things to work for, but the one thing that comes easy is the friendships we make here. The friends we have made on campus will last a lifetime. They may be our roommate, teammate, or even a faculty whoever they are they've made a difference in our life on this campus.

Wonder what John is thinking?

How great it is to have a roommate.

In Spellman the girls smile with Otis the elevator.

What sweet smiles.

Golden HORIZONS

We Will Miss You M'ville

The Mighty Triumvirate breaks for snacks and things.

Debbie, Taryn, and Jenny seem to be all set for the formal.

Here at Manhattanville we are all working for one common goal, to reach our golden horizon. But this campus is not all about work. We need time for fun too. With so many exciting things to do it's hard to do them all. No matter what goes on, the entire campus is sure to be there. From the Formals to the weekend pub parties our student body is always represented. Here at Manhattanville we are a community, and always working together.

The Class of '98 enjoys their last times together. The Class has many Golden Horizons ahead of them. Best wishes!

COLOPHON

The 1998 TOWER was published by the Herff Jones Yearbook Company located in Gettysburg, PA 17325. The total press run for this year's edition consisted of 150 copies using an 8 1/2 x 11 page size format. The staff's original cover design was created using a custom embossed/lithographic quarterbound process. The base materials consisted of Vibra-Tex Metallic capitol gold #41028 and Matte Dark Green #41011. A custom 4-Color Process tip-on was applied to the debossed panel. The silkscreen colors that were applied to the base materials consisted of rich gold #15 and kelley green #2 along with an application of gold #F-2 foil. A mission overgrain was also applied to the silkscreen base materials. The endsheets were printed on Vibracolored VC-01 white stock and incorporated a Shades Texture Screen #26. The printing inks utilized were HJ#950 black and #960 gold. The paper stock chosen for the entire book consisted of Meade's triple coated 100 pound Bordeaux stock. Special effects consisted of 4-Color Process Photos and Spot Color backgrounds. Percentage screens of black, overprints, reverses, mortices, rule lines and shades texture screens were also utilized throughout. Our Professional Photographer is Davis Studio of Mamaroneck, New York 10543. Our Publishers Representatives and friends are Dale & Nancy Alger of Bedford, New York 10506. Our Customer Service Person in Gettysburg is Ms. Barb Hale. We'd like to give special thanks to Co-Editors Heather Conklin and David Fried along with Ms. Stacy Bailey Robinson, our faculty advisers, for their commitment and dedication, which helped make this yearbook special.
